FCC Approves Broadcast Power Boost

KERS, Sacramento State's FM radio station, has received authorization from the Federal Communications Commission to increase its power from 10 watts to 5,400 watts (ERP) and to change its frequency from 88.9 megacycles to 90.7 megacycles.

Construction has already begun on the major engineering project.

At present, the station's signal can be received only within a 3-5 mile radius of the campus. The new equipment will permit saturation of the metropolitan Sacramento area with a high-density signal within a 10-15 mile radius. KERS engineer Ken Blue noted, however, that the signal should be effective on reasonably good equipment up to 40 or 50 miles from SSC.

Increased wattage, long the dream of students working at the station, has become reality because of the donation of a 3 kilowatt transmitter by the Kelly Broadcasting Company of Sacramento. Already in possession of the college, the huge piece of machinery will give KERS an effective radiated power of 5,400 watts.

A specially built 8' X 9' room adjoining the KERS studios on the second floor of the Music-Speech Building will house the transmitter. The enclosure will have insulated ceiling, sides and floor with mesh screening to prevent extraneous radiation from interfering with other electronic equipment in the building. The equipment will be Air cooled by special blowers.

"To say we're excited would be an understatement," summer student manager Charles Weigel told the HORNET. "The change in our staff's morale is unbe-

Worst Disaster In College's History

Accident Marks Tragic Ending For Oriental Travel Study Tour

Seven members of an SSC travel study tour of the Orient perished last Friday when a Thai International Airways jet which carried the group plunged into Kowloon Bay while attempting to land at Hong Kong's international airport during a heavy rainstorm.

Listed as dead by the Hon Kong coroner's office were: Shirley Baker of Vallejo, Beverly Fong of Sacramento, Mrs. Luther Martin of Memphis, Tennessee, Mrs. Loretta M. Saunders of Sacramento, Mrs. Vivian D. Tepper of Bethel, Ohio, Mrs. Josephine Stephenson of Davis, and Mrs. Florence Olson of Sacramento.

A course in the humanities, the thirty-four member tour, led by Charles V. Hume, professor of speech, left Sacramento June 19. After spending twelve days studying the art, drama, music, and culture of Japan and Taiwan, the tour had been headed for a several days stopover in Hong Kong when the accident occured. It was the first major accident involving any group participating in SSC's nineteen year old travel study program.

Remaining portions of the tour, which were to have included stops at Thailand and the Phillipines were cancelled following the tragedy.

First news of the disaster to reach SSC came in a telegram from Hume, which read tersely, "Tragedy struck State College travel group — tentatively seven missing."

"Faulty instruments" were cited by Hong Kong airport officials as the reason why the French-built jet fell into the water several hundred yards short of the airport's runway. The plane broke apart after hitting the water, allowing the survivors to swim free of the wreckage where rescue units, junks, and a harbor ferry picked them up. All deaths appeared to be caused by drowning, rather than from the crash impact itself.

Positive identification of the dead was delayed several days because many of the people on the plane had become separated from their identification papers.

At least twenty-seven members of the SSC group were hospitalized at Queen Elizabeth's hospital in Hong Kong; however, none of the survivors were listed as being critically injured, and most of them were treated and discharged over the weekend.

Hume lauded the efforts of rescue workers, saying, "it was only through the valient efforts of many agencies and persons that there were any survivors."

Hume added, "Loss of so many of our friends is felt most deeply by those of us more fortunate. Our sympathies go out to the families and friends of those who lost their lives in this horrible accident."

Tour group members who survived the disaster include:

Teachers And Technology Is Speech Topic

Coming Obselence of Teachers" will be the topic of Yehudi Cohen when he speaks at the convocation Wednesday at 11 a.m. in the Men's Gymnasium.

Cohen is the author of SOCIAL STRUCTURE AND PERSONALITY and TRANSITION FROM CHILDHOOD TO ADOLESCENCE. An anthropoligist, his recent studies have dealt with society's need to allocate livelihoods and social rewards in new ways as a result of fundamental changes in technology. The impact of technology on the educational system is one part of this larger study.

Cohen will be introduced by Warren Snyder, chairman of the SSC department of anthropology. His address, sponsored by the SSC Cultural Programs Committee, is open to the public without charge.

Faculty Members Receive Honors

Four SSC faculty members were recently named Distinguished Professors by a committee of their peers.

Those receiving the award, which is sponsored by the State College Board of Trustees, are Victor Comerchero, assistant professor of English; Robert A. Good, professor of psychology; H. Moredock, professor of mathematics; and Robert G. Thompson, professor of government.

The award, which was initiated last year on all the State College campuses, carries with it a $500 grant to each recipient.

Future issues of the summer hornet will include individual stories on the outstanding teachers.

Rooney Named SSC Registrar

John J. Rooney has assumed his duties as registrar of the college, replacing Dean C. Landis.

Thomas Gunn Takes Fresno State Postition

Thomas Gunn, director of the SSC Foundation, will leave August 1, 1967, for a new position at Fresno State College. Gunn's new title will be Research Coordinator.

It will be his duty to coordinate all research and special projects at Fresno as well as seek projects sponsored by outside agencies such as the federal government.

In addition to these duties, Gunn's office will be the central depository of all grant information. In this position he will be responsible for maintaining close contact with the State Colleges' chancellors office in Washington D.C. Gunn will report directly to the executive vice-president of Fresno State College.

When Gunn arrived at SSC in the fall of 1960, he was the director of both the SSC Foundation and the Hornet Foundation. The Hornet Foundation then was making $500,000 a year, while the SSC Foundation was making a little under a $100,000 a year. Today the Hornet Foundation is making $1½ million dollars a year and the SSC Foundation is making nearly $1 million dollars a year.

As Research Coordinator for Fresno State, Gunn will be a state employee. He will be given an administrative position with a teaching identity, so that he may go into teaching when he retires from administrative work. Gunn's academic discipline is business administration — (management and marketing).

Among his contributions to the campus in his six and one-half years at SSC, are the planning and developing of the new bookstore, establishing early contracts with the Peace Corps, for its summer training program and establishing close contacts with the late C.M. Goethe. Gunn was instrumental in establishing the Goethe Arboreteum, and has been a member of the Arboreteum Society.

Thomas I. Gunn

Gunn said that it has been a tremendous experience being here and working with SSC's administration, faculty, and staff. He has particularly enjoyed working with the Board of Governors of the SSC Foundation.

While he says he is a little sad to be leaving SSC and his friends here in Sacramento, Gunn is looking forward to his new job and new friends in Fresno.

SHE STOOPS TO CONQUER will play July 18th through 22nd at the SSC Little Theatre. Tickets are now on sale at the Associated Students box office, next to the La Vista Room (old bookstore).

San Luis Obispo President Chosen

Robert E. Kennedy, vice president of California State Polytechnic College at San Luis Obispo, has been elevated to the presidency of the college by the State Colleges' Board of Trustees.

Prison Drama At SF State

A San Francisco State College presentation of the prison-inspired drama, "Le Cage," written by Rick Cluchy while he was still an inmate of San Quentin, is scheduled for showing in the Creative Arts Auditoruim, 1600 Holloway Avenue, at 8:30 p.m. on Saturday, July 15.

Tickets sell for $2 with a student rate of $1. They are available at the Associated Students Box Office at Hut T-1, located mid-campus.

"Le Cage," concerned with four characters who are held in a cage for their various crimes, is set in a French prison. The cast consists chiefly of three oldtimers of the jail and a young man who insists he is innocent.

The play was first produced in 1957 in an Actor's Workshop presentation. All the participants were then incarcerated at the State prison.

"Le Cage" is now being presented by The Seventh Step Foundation. Its director is Ken Margolis.

Cultural Programs Presents 'La Notte'

LA NOTTE, another essay in cinegraphic art by the director of L'ADVENTURA and BLOW UP, will be presented this evening at 8 p.m. in Physics 111 by the SSC Cultural Programs Committee.

Marcello Mastroianni is starred as a successful author. Jeanne Moreau plays his wife, and Monica Vitti is cast as a girl encountered at an interminable party.

LA NOTTE is an examination of their marriage and the boredom which they both feel without realizing what it is. The wife, being more sensitive, realizes it first, but the writer understands too little and too late.

A backdrop for the drama, which depends upon the ability of the camera to suggest the inner tensions, complications, and climaxes of a seemingly calm surface, is provided by the plate glass opulance of Milan.

Presented without admission charge, the film is open to the public.

La Vista Room Is Open Late

Students who are on campus in the later parts of the evening are reminded that the La Vista Room, located in the south wing of the Food Service Building, is open until 9 p.m. each week night. The room contains food and beverage vending machines. The Snack Bar closes at 7 p.m. Monday through Thursday, and at 3:30 p.m. Fridays.

Foundation Board Completes Year's Final Business

Sufficient funds to cover the expenses of the ASSSC College Union Committee's trip to Utah to inspect college unions were allocated by the Hornet Foundation at the June 12, meeting. The cost of the trip will probably be somewhere in the range of $1,000 to $1,500.

Norbert J. Mietus, professor of Business Administration, introduced a proposal to remove cigarette vending machines from campus. The motion died for a lack of a second. Jan Eakes, student body president, agreed to solicit the Student Senate's feelings on this matter in the fall.

Mexican Course Deadline Extended

The deadline has been extended for a travel study program in anthropology being offered by Sacramento State College.

Students will have an opportunity to visit four different regions of Mexico — Central Mexico, Oaxaca, Chiapas, and Yucatan, where they will study the pattern of cultural development.

Instructors, Howard P. Goldfried and Clark L. Taylor, stated that particular attention will be given to the importance of the fiesta and the market in modern Indian life.

Included in the itinerary are visits to numerous museums, archaeological sites, and Indian villages and markets.

Eakes Plans Aisian Trip

Under the auspices of People to People, a group of university students will be given the opportunity to visit South Viet Nam as a "Fact-Finding Delegation."

The Student Fact-Finding Delegation to South East Asia and Viet Nam is a travel project initiated in a discussion between Representative Thomas S. Foley and Robert Hunter, chairman of People to People Chapter of Spokane, Washington, to provide up to date information about the situation in Viet Nam for university students.

A select group of colleges and universities in the western part of the United States were asked to nominate delegates for this program. The project drew very enthusiastic comment, and responses indicate that a group of fifteen to twenty delegates can be expected to participate.

Jan Eakes, president of the ASSC, is making arrangements to accompany this group as the official representative from Sacramento State College.

Jan M. Eakes

Eakes feels that as a participant in this program he can see at first hand the country, the people and the customs of South East Asia and that, upon his return, he will be well equipped to answer questions concerning his visit.

The tour leaves from Seattle, Washington on August 8 and returns to Seattle on September 3. The four week journey will include visits to Hong Kong, the Philippines, Indonesia, Thiland, Japan, and South Viet Nam.

Every day of the trip is carefully planned; meetings with officials and students from different countries are scheduled.

The proposed itinerary is comprehensive. Some of the scheduled events include: a reception at the Hong Kong airport with students, briefings at the South East Asia Treaty Organization Headquarters and a dinner meeting with students of Bandung Technical University.

From August 18, until August 29, students will have the opportunity to hear viewpoints of counterpart students, government officials, and citizens of Sout Viet Nam. During this period trips will be arranged to other cities and villages of South Viet Nam.

The cost for the trip is estimated to be between $1400 and $1500.

Delegates must pay their own way; however they may be assisted by any organization interested in their participation in this mission.

At this time Eakes is making personal appeals to community organizations and clubs for funds to help finance his trip. He feels that he will not only be representing the college but also the people of his community.

Supporting Actors Prepare For Summer Production

By ALMIRA TYE

Norman Berryhill describes his role in the forthcoming SSC summer production of "She Stoops to Conquer," as that of a "straight man." He plays Hastings, who is a buddy of the changeable Marlowe. Berryhill relates that his most comic scene is the one in which he is flattering Mrs. Hardcastle.

Offstage, Berryhill is a quiet-spoken, calm person. He has taught drama and speech at Yreka High School, after having received his BA degree from San Francisco State. He is presently working on his master's in drama at SSC.

While at SSC, Berryhill states, he has concentrated mainly on the work of stage technician, but he also has had acting experience in the Modesto Little Theatre group. He describes this experience as "mainly boulevard-type of plays — trying to make money."

Berryhill emphasizes that it is good for a teacher-director to come back as a student — good for them to do something that someone else wants for a change. He adds that it is difficult to put together a show where the mannerisms and language are so different from our own, but that it's "great fun to be in a period play."

INGENUE

"It's always difficult to play an ingenue when you're not an ingenue," stated Roberta Blagg of her role Constance in Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer." Roberta explained that she is more accustomed to character parts, and has to play the ingenue from recall. She continued that the role of Constance, the second female romantic lead of the play, helps to make up most of the exposition — a very necessary character dramatically, as a parallel to the first lead, Kate, but not necessarily an important thematic character.

Roberta is not new to period drama, and finds the role of Constance reminiscent of the role of Marianna in "Measure for Measure." She feels that both Goldsmith and Shakespeare used similar treatments in the development of these two characters.

"Probably my most challenging role to date was that of Andromache in "Trojan Women," Roberta related. "But my most enjoyable role was a bit part — the maid in "Ah Wilderness."

Roberta will be graduated from SSC in the fall of 1967, and plans to go on to graduate school.

MR. HARDCASTLE

Crisp-speaking Hardin Cheney turned his attention from going over his lines to discuss his role in Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer."

"The part of Hardcastle," he explained, "is one of a jolly, country squire who suddenly finds himself in a maddening situation due to a series of mistakes contrieved by his step-son Tony."

Regarding the comparison of this Goldsmith comedy with some of Shakespeare's comedies, Cheny says, "This is a far different style of acting than is done is Shakespeare—a more presentational style, more of a comedy of manners."

Cheney, who is a teacher of speech and history at Roseville High School is a veteran actor of the SSC stage, as well as the Roseville Civic Theatre. At SSC, he has appeared in "The Taming of the Shrew," "Romeo and Juliet," "Death of a Salesman," and "Our Town."

He played the role of Starbuck in "The Rainmaker" at the Roseville Civic Theatre, and produced, directed and acted in that group presentation of "Much Ado About Nothing." He also has appeared there in "Chicken Every Sunday," "Twelfth Night," and numerous other productions.

evening each petitioning group was brought before the executive committee and given a change to present their fraternity. It took approximately one-half hour per fraternity. The Executive Committee met from Sunday until Tuesday to interview all the petitioning locals.

Tuesday, all the fraternities were presented to the general assembly with the recommendations of the executive committee. Each undergraduate chapter had two delegates; one voting and one alternate. There were 156 chapters and 40 alumni Associations present, each with one vote. The vote on Phi Alpha was unanimous !! The final vote was taken on Wednesday morning, June 21, and Phi Alpha was informed of their acceptance on noon of the same day.

The actual installation ceremonies will take place on the afternoon of December 16, 1967. The Supreme Council of the national will be there along with the California Kappa Chapter, UC Davis to do the installing. A dinner dance will be held that evening. On December 17, a reception will be held in the SSC Faculty Dining Room.

Weather Flight School in Corpus Christi, Texas.

The new administrator also did two years duty as intelligence operations officer for the Marine Atlantic Area Command.

Rooney, a native of Ohio, received his bachelor's degree in business administration from Ohio State University and did graduate work in political science at Villanova University.

Rooney stated in a recent HORNET interview that he is impressed with the architecture and landscaping of the college, and although he only assumed his duties June 15, he added that he is also impressed with the efficiency of all the college's employees and with the amount of loyalty to the college they exhibit.

Rooney also commented that the campus had a more "homey" atmosphere than he had expected.

Rooney has also been favorably impressed by what he called the "feeling of respect from civilians" in the community when he informs them of his SSC affiliation.

While the new Registrar explained that many problems of administration are the same in schools in or out of the military, he conceded that one adjustment he must make is in working with women rather than men. Rooney plans no immediate changes in the registration procedures.

Rooney and his wife have six children ranging in age from two to thirteen. He listed as his first "hobby" babysitting. Others include cooking, fishing, coaching little league baseball and participating in civic affairs.

lievable. Our shifts are assigned on a competitive basis — and the competition next fall is going to be fierce!"

KERS bills itself as "Double E Radio," education and entertainment. The station is legally classified as "educational" and is, therefore, non-commercial. Its regular staff of 60 students — half that number in the summer — is the largest in Sacramento radio.

Summer programming on KERS is confined to locally produced music programs between 4 pm and midnight, seven days a week. During the school year, however, the variety of programs presented exceeds that on any other local station. In addition to local music, news, and documentary programs, KERS features live broadcasts of SSC music presentations and Hornet sports, plus programs of all types from the National Educational Radio Network and foreign broadcast systems.

Expanded news coverage can be expected next fall, according to news director Roger Smith, because of funds allocated by the ASSSC for installation of a wire service. Previously the station relied on the cooperation of other stations and the Hornet for its wire copy. (The KERS news department regularly exchanges telephone "actualities" with local commercial stations and other educational stations throughout California.)

The cramped KERS control room also will be enlarged during the construction period; its machinery will be relocated. Additional space made available when the music departmant vacates the building will allow for separate production studios and a combination office-record library.

The project is expected to be completed sometime next fall. Observers feel that that station's evening music programming, brain child of Frank LaRosa, program director during the past academic year, will place KERS near the top in the FM ratings. A careful blend of standards, jazz, folk and some "Top 40," the sound is already beginning to be slowly integrated into the formats of other FM stations.

Beyond The Fringe Plays At Davis

American Conservatory Theatre will perform "Beyond the Fringe" next Thursday at 8:15 p.m. in Freeborn Hall at the University of California, Davis campus.

An admission of $2 will be charged. Regular session UCD students and students of high school age or younger will be charged only $1.

SSC Gets $281,602 In June Grants

Sacramento State College Foundation received a total of $281,602 in grants during the month of June.

The largest amount, $130,146, was received from the Peace Corps for a Peace Corps Training Program for Ecuador Youth Development volunteers under the direction of Henry Hansen.

The National Science Foundation provided a grant of $10,360 for science development in research and teaching; $34,100 for a study of fish parasites, whidh will be directed by John D. Mizelle; and $8,822 for an in-service institute in organic and biochemistry for secondary school science teachers, which will be directed by Arthur Williams.

A grant of $24,743 for social work — corrections was received from the National Institutes of Mental Health. The program will be directed by Dorothy Zietz.

The United States Office of Education provided a Prospective Teachers Fellowship grant of $36,885. Director will be George Gardner.

Kenneth Edson will direct a summer institute for vocational rehabilitation counselors and counselor trainees. A grant of $13,110 was received from the Vocational Rehabilitation Administration.

The National Institutes of Mental Health also provided $1,936 for a comparative study of probability learning, which will be directed by John H. Doolittle.

The Department of Chemistry received $3,500 from the Research Corporation for a research program which will be under the direction of Robert F. Nelson.
